Like all the phases of this singular case this ordinarily rou-tine proceedings furnished a sensation.

Holmes was brought from prison to court. The weeks of confinement since his conviction has added to the emacia-tion that was so marked when he was in limagin from that was so marked when he was sourt before, and a heatic flush has taken the place of his former palor. He has also lost the easy look of confidence that he wore during his trial, and although he was composed his anxiety was plainly clearly.

Julice Wilson seemed struck by this, and asked Mr. Graham how Pietzel was killed. Mr. Graham said that it was the contention of the Commonwealth that Holmes chloroformed him to death, but the district attorney did not make it clear how they believed the dead man was murdered.

Holmes chloroformed him to death, but the district attorney did not make it clear how they believed the dead man was murdered.

Mr. Rotan spoke on this point, and addressing the Court in his closing argument, dwelt upon the improbability of a man of Holmes' physique overcoming a man of Fetzet's strength and kilfung him with chloroform. He also contended that the Commonwealth had produced ev dence to show that Petzel bought a plut of whisky the night before he died. There was no evidence to show that he was drank on the day he died, and thereby enabling Holmes to show that he was drank on the day he died, and thereby enabling Holmes to show that he was drank on the day he died, and thereby enabling Holmes to show that he was drank on the trial, which he contended, was incomplete and inconclusive. Judge Thayer replied that the Court would consider this phase of the case, and especially as requested by Mr. Rotan.

Then Judge Thayer, addressing Mr. Shoemaker, told him that he had a most unpleasant duty to perform. He said that, in view of the use Mr. Shoemaker made of the affloavit he presented in court this morning, the Court had no alternative but to hold him in $1,500 ball for subornation of perjury. Mr. Shoemaker stood pallid and nerveless while Judge Thayer was speaking, and when his Honor had finished he made an inarticulate effort to say something, but his voice choked and he wat down silently. The Court reserved its decision upon franting Holmes a new trial, but that the new trial will be refused from the line of questioning adopted by the bench is undoubted.

Mr. Shoemaker procured ball, but refused to make any statement in regard to the affidavit. He would only say that it was a most cruel and unexpected development to him, and that he bench of judges exonerated him from blane. Mr. Rotan expressed the opinion that he morning that he had no hand in procuring the affidavit, the bench of judges exonerated him from blane. Mr. Rotan expressed the opinion that he fell into a trap which was set for him.

The New York Yacht Club to Investigate.

My Lord Will Come Over, NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The New York Yacht Club, at one of the largest and most representative meetings ever held in its club-house, took action this evening on the charges which Lord Dunraven has made over his signature in the Lon-intention of the Government on the charges when Lord Dunraved has made over his signature in the London Field. A committee, composed of William C. Whitney, J. Pierpont Morgan, and George Leyves, was appointed, with full nower to take such action in the name of the club as they deem proper. The club-house was filled with the most substantial members of the club. The gentlemen present acted as one man taking the first step toward myesticating the ugly charge of fraud which has been made. While it is probable that there was no one present who cave the least particle of credit to Lord Dunrayen's accusation, yet it was the sentiment of the members that the late challenger should be given every opportunity to prove his charges.

A letter from H. Maitland Kersey, the American representative of Lord Dunraven had cabled to-day announcing his willingness to come over and place himself at the disposal of any investigating committee that might be appointed.

Tacony Saving Fund, Title, and Trust Company, has disappeared. A warrant has been issued by the officers of the company for his arrest, but nothing whatever is known of his whereabouts. Ritter disappeared on Saturday night, after leaving a note for his wife saying she would never again see him alive.

President Lewis R. Dick, of the Saving Fund Company, has also received a letter from Ritter, in which he confessed to misappropriating funds of the company, and informing him of his proposed flight. A meeting of the directors of the institution was called, a warrant was issued for atter's apprehension, and investigation of his accounts was immediately begun. The officers say they have no idea whatever of the amount taken by Ritter. The latter had been teller of the bank since its organization, about three years ago, Mrs. Ritter believes her husband has committed suicide.

Mili Operatives Apprehensive, PRVIDENCE, R. 1., Nov. 18.—the Onlyville operatives have been in a restless rumor that all of the mills were to be shut down for several weeks, because of the fact that the manufacturer had no

by the last strike, having had this effect upon their business. While there is some ground for the reports, it is by no means as serious as the operatives have been

of some of the mills are to shut down for slack period that always comes between

The Republicans are naturally loath to talk about foreign affairs, because they fear the President may deprive them of all their desired thunder, by recommending a course with which they can mind no fault, and as they are intent upon maturfacturing material for use in next year's campaign, they do not propose to make known their policy until they are fully informed regarding that of the year's campaign, they do not propose to make known their policy until they are fully informed regarding that of the Administration.

It is apparent, however, that the question of foreign relations will play a conspicuous part in the early weeks of the session, and as some serious complications are threatened, if they have not already occurred, the discussion will prove of great interest.

The rapid depletion of the gold reserve makes it extremely probable that another issue of bonds will be necessary, unless Congress comes speedily to the relief of the Treasury. Secretary Carlisle, in his annual report, will suggest to Congress the steps he thinks necessary to place the Treasury upon a better footing than it now occupies but the hope of early action is so slight that it is hardly thought congressional aid can be secured in time to avert another increase in the national debt. It is pretty well determined that the reserve will not be allowed to fall below $55,000,000, and as it is but little more than $15,000,000 in excess of that figure now, the Treasury officials do not attempt to deny that another issue of bonds is probable.

The Administration would, if it were possible, avert this necessity, and will probably accord to Congress all the time possible to consider the many perplexing problems which must be solved before a satisfactory settlement of the currency question can be obtained. It seems so certain, however, that he Republican majority in the House will spend its time preparing and discussing useless tariff measures that proper consideration of the currency question is not looked for until too late in the session to help the Treasury in the present emergency.

There is but little likelihood that the Populists will vot; with the Republicans, while there are sound-money Democrats enough to prevent the re-election of Mr. Elackburn. In consequence of this combination it is hoped there may be trecipitated a row in the Legislature that will cause the entire saily days of the session to be spent in fruitless balloting, and as the life of the Legislature, according to law, is only sixty days in length, it is hoped that body will adjourn without sending any one to take the place of Senator Blackburn in this case, the power of the Governor of the State to appoint a successor to Blackburn, will Some of the Kentucky Democrats still Pathios.

The Porte is endeavoring to raise one million pounds for the purpose of assisting in the mobilization of troops, and offers to prolong the concessions in the tobacco region for a loan of that amount. During the mar two weeks a tremen-dous pressure has been exercised by the Porte upon the Armenian patriarch, to get him to send a circular note to all the Armenians in Asia Minor, exhorting them to keep quiet, and lend themselves to no promoters of disturbances.

The object of the Porte in taking this step is clearly to induce the belief that the troubles are to a very great extent due to the aggressions of the Armenians themselves and that the troops are mere-due to the aggressions of the Armenians themselves, and that the troops are morely suppressing riots when engaged in their work of slaughter.

Yielding to this pressure, the patriarch finally drew up a note, which he sent to the Minister of Police, Nazim Pasha, for his approval. In the mean time telegrams were constantly arriving, telling of the fresh massacres, and the patriarch sent his secretary to Nazim Pasha, demanding the return of his note. The secretary was at the time instructed to say to the Minster of Police, in the name the Patriarch:

of the Patriarch:

To this the Minister replied: "You are quite right," adding: "The Hamadich Cavairy are turning against him," "Against whom?" asked the Secretary. "Against the one who ordered all this," was the suggestive answer of the Minister.

The Sultan yesterday instructed the Ministers to draw up a plan for the mobilization of 109,000 troops. The financial situation is such that such a request is almost grotesque. Nevertheless the Ministers are compelled to comply, and some sort of a scheme will be elaborated. Respectful hints as to the want of money made to the Sultan throw him into a passion. The result was that several of the Ministers resigned, but their resignations were not accepted.

The opinion seems to be gaining ground that the Armenians have so stultified themselves that the powers are not likely to take steps to coerce the Sultan until the measures that are being tried shall have proved futile or a fresh outbreak occurs.

JUDGE HUGHES REVERSED. Important Cases Decided in the Supreme Court of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.-Upon the authe last term of the court, the Supreme Court to-day reversed the order of Judge Hughes, of the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, releasing James Van Vanken from the custody of John F. McGlensil, an officer of the United States navy. Van Vranken was clerk of Paymaster Bellows, who had been found guilty by a naval court-martial of converting to his own use $1,23 of the funds entrusted to the paymaster, and sentenced to imprisonment for a year. Judge Hughes released Van Vranken, holding that he was amenable to the civil courts for his crime, and not to the military. This position, the Supreme Court said in the case of Johnson vs. Sayre, involving precisely the same state of facts, was incorrect, and reversed the in the United States Court for the Southern District of California, were affirmed to-day by the Supreme Court of the United States, the opinion being read by Mr. Justice Brewer. The appellants were local officers in Los Angeles, Cal., of the American Rallway Union, and were indicted for conspiracy to obstruct the mails of the Southern Pacific rallway at the time of the great rallway strike in the summer of 1851. They were sentenced by Judge Ross to imprisonment in the county jail at Los Angeles for eighteen months, and appealed from that judgment. The only question of law considered by the court was one raised in the argument of the case—that it was incompetent for Con-court was one raised in the argument of the case—that it was incompetent for Con-gress to impose a heavier penalty for conspirately to commit a crime than that imposed for commission of the crime it-self. This, Judge Brewer said, was in-correct; the power exists to separate the conspiracy from the crime itself and to affix distinct and independent penalties to each. There was no error in the trial of the convicted men, and the judgment of the court below was affirmed.

The long-pending case of the United aith distinct and independent penaltics to each. There was no error in the trial of the court below was affirmed.

The long-pending case of the United States against the Union Pacific Radiroad Company and the Western Union Telesgraph Company was settled to-day by the unantmous decision of the Supreme Court, announced in an opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Hariam. The decision is one of the most important that has been made by the Supreme Court, affecting the relations of the Government and the Facific railroads, declaring as it does that Congress has the right to add to, amend, or siler the acts of 182-34, granting aid in bonds and land to the company for the construction of its line The proceeding involved in the present decision, brought by the Autorney-ticneral in parsuance to the directions contained in the Anderson act of 1838, which required all companies engaged in operating railroad or telegraph lines, which had been aided in any way by the Government to maintain and operate, through their own respective corporate offices, telegraph lines for all pursoses and to exercise by themselves alone all telegraph franchises conferred upon them. The suit was brought in the Circuit court for the Eighth circuit, and originally heard by Mr. Justice Brewer, who declared the arrangements and agreements between the Western Union and the Union Pacific Telegraph Companies, in which the former held execused the Union Pacific to also put an end to all relations between it and the telegraph company and to operate its own line of telegraph. The case went before Judges Caldwell and Thayer, and they reversed Judge Brewer in a modified decree, but hold generally that the end sought by the Government could be secured only by other legal means, and they reversed the decree of the Court of Appeals and affirmed that of Judge Brewer, of the Circuit Court.

The opinion further holds that since the passing of the act of 1881 no telegraph company can by contract with a railroad of the Circuit Court with instructions to make a supplemen lation in a sudden emergency without re-ferring to their respective governments. WANT TO PASS DARDANELLES. MEMORIAL TO A JUSTICE

HARRISON'S LETTER.

Following is President Harrison's letter:

"Executive Mansion.

"Washington, Feb. 14, 1833.

"Hon. Howell E. Jackson, Nashville, Tenn.:

"My Dear Sir,—I have your telegram
thanking me for sending your name to the Senate for the vacant position on the Supreme beach. My acquaintance with you in the Senate and the information I have had since from the bar of your circuit gave me, I thought, the needed assurance that you would exercise the duties of this high and responsible office with industry, fidelity, and patriotism.

"I have never believed in a partsan judiciary. Only polities in the larger sense should have anything to do with such appointments. I would not, of course, appoint to the Supreme beach a man who held views of the legislation and of the powers of the General Government that I thought subverted or diminished
those necessary powers.

"I have believed from my knowledge of you and representations of others that you were a believer in the nation and did not sympathize with the opinion that a United States marshal was an alien official or that election frauds or any other infraction of the Federal statutes
were deserving of aught but indignant condemnation and punishment.

NO FEAR OF CRITICISM.

NO FEAR OF CRITICISM.

"I know you to be a conscientious and industrious judge, and a God-fearing man, and if the Senate shall ratify your nomination I don't fear than any passing criticisms which have fallen upon me for your selection will endure.

"I have been most sincerely desirous of obliterating all sectional divisions; have not been oblivious to the difficulties under which the South has labored, but have been always most insistent that everybody must obey the law, and must yield to every other man his rights under the law.

NO FEAR OF CRITICISM.

to every cues law.

"With very great personal respect, and with the best wishes for your happiness and usefulness, I am, "Sincerely your friend, (Signed) "BENJAMIN HARRISON."

Coolie Labor a Failure. Coolic Labor a Failure.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18.—A report received at the Department of State from Vice-Consul St. Croix de la Ronciere, stationed at Guadeloupe, West Indies, shows that the Japanese coolie labor has been a failure on the island. The sugar planters who employed this class of labor, who were encouraged by an immigration society, are dissatisfied. Strikes occurred, and thee strikers, despite the efforts of the police, refused to leave, and were devastating the plantations. The Governor was obliged to use force to master the strikers, 140 of whom were arrested and jailed.
